Trump condemns attacks on Hindus in Bangladesh

LALIT K JHA Washington, November 1

HINDU AMERICANS HAVE applauded Republican presidential candidate and former president Donald Trump for promising to protect the human rights of Hindus across the world, including the US and Bangladesh and protect them from the "anti-religion agenda of the radical left."

our own Southern Border, but we will Make America Strong Again and bring back peace through strength," he said.

"We will also protect Hindu Americans against the anti-religion agenda of the radical left. We will fight for your freedom. Under my administration, we will also strengthen our great partnership with India and my good friend, Prime Minister (Narendra) Modi," Trump said.

"I'm very grateful to President Trump, eternally grateful and eternally appreciative. It sucks that Kamala Harris hasn't said anything about this issue. I think that there's going to be a big change in this election coming from this," Sanduja said. HinduAction thanks Trump for his statement.

"As you rightly pointed out, the situation of the Hindus in Bangladesh is precarious. Below is a summary head with regularly updated data on the atrocities against Hindus in Bangladesh," it said. "Thank you President Trump for showing moral clarity and unequivocally condemning anti-Hindu pogroms in Bangladesh," said Nathan Punwani.

"Trump is a great man and, a great leader, full credit goes to him for wishing all the Hindus, Buddhists, Jain and Sikhs a very blessed Diwali. I think Trump really, really cares about these communities. He really understands what's going on in Bangladesh. He sees the ongoing persecution of Hindus. He is concerned about religious minorities that are suffering right now in that country," Sanduja said.

"He has done such a great favour to millions of Americans who are concerned about human rights issues. To deliver on Diwali, such an auspicious day, such a magnificent thing. I'd like to say that many of us in the Hindu community played a small part in persuading President Trump's team, talking about this, giving briefings, and putting papers together," he said.

"We are seeing that 60% of Indian Americans are supporting Kamala Harris. In the last election, I think 68% supported Biden. There's a dip in support for the Democratic presidential candidate. Trump, last time around, had 22% of the Indian American community. Now he's at 32%. This is according to Carnegie Endowment's latest survey on Indian American attitudes," he said.

"With this statement, it's going to open up the eyes of more Indian Americans, Hindu Americans, and so on. They're going to give President Trump the vote," Sanduja said.

Amazon reassures investors with AI growth, cost-cutting

MATT DAY November 1

AMAZON.COM REPORTED STRONG results that showed a company humming on all cylinders, a testament to its efforts to cut and reallocate costs and put the cloud computing and e-commerce giant on sounder footing. The Amazon Web Services cloud division, which suffered record low sales growth last year, continued to regain momentum during the third quarter. The online retail operation, which sputtered coming out of the pandemic, grew unit sales by double digits. So did revenue at Amazon's fast-growing advertising business.

the results, chief financial officer Brian Olsavsky said Amazon expects to devote a whopping $75 billion to capital expenditures in 2024, the majority of which will go toward technology infrastructure. Jassy said he expected the company to spend even more next year. The CEO called generative AI "a really unusually large, maybe once-in-a-lifetime type of opportunity. And I think our customers, the business, and our shareholders will feel good about this long term — that we're aggressively pursuing it."

"People tend to get a little uptight when Amazon talks about ramped up spending, but they've got such a great track record of spending large sums of money and getting really good returns on that," said Brian Yarbrough, an analyst at Edward D Jones & Co.

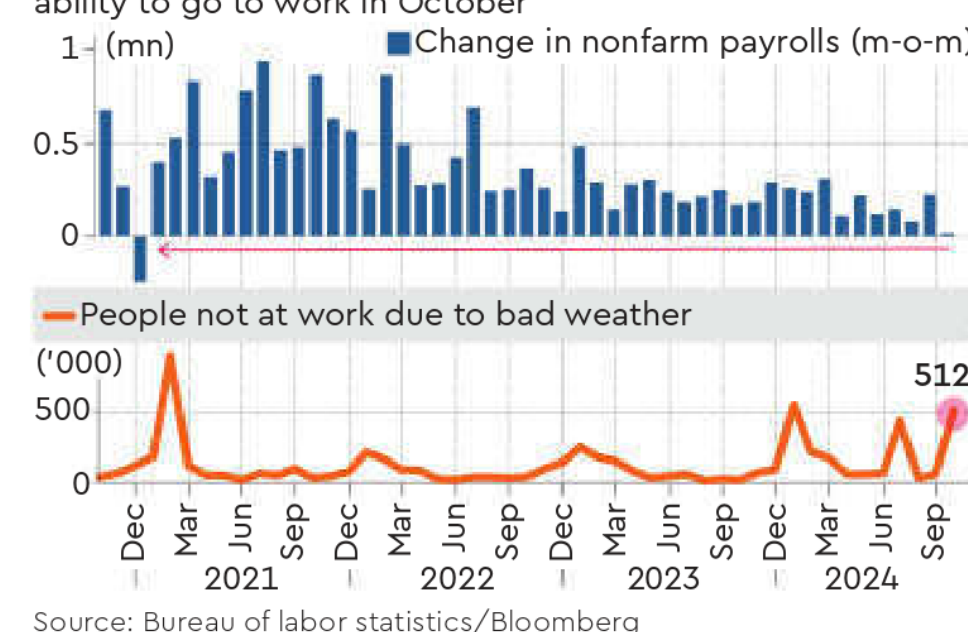

US economy adds just 12K jobs, hit by strikes

US JOB GROWTH almost stalled in October as strikes in the aerospace industry depressed manufacturing employment while hurricanes impacted the response rate for the payrolls survey, making it hard to get a clear picture of the labour market ahead of next week's presidential election.

The Labour Department's closely watched employment report on Friday was the last major economic data before Americans head to the polls to choose Democratic Vice President Kamala Harris or Republican former President Donald Trump as the country's next president.

"This is not the clarifying report on the economy that Americans and markets needed before next week's election to answer whether voters are better off than they were four years ago," said

Its $1.92 per share profit topped Wall Street's outlook of $1.88 per share, on higher oil and gas production and spending constraints. But, Exxon's year-over-year profit fell 5%.

Chevron beats Street targets

CHEVRON BEAT WALL Street estimates for third-quarter profit on Friday, helped by higher oil and gas output, but its earnings fell from a year ago. Xi highlights employment woes before US election PRESIDENT XI JINPING highlighted pressures facing China's employment market in a newly-published speech that painted a turbulent time for the world's second largest economy, as officials try to arrest a growth slowdown.

"China is entering a period where strategic opportunities as well as risks and challenges coexist, and unexpected factors are rising," Xi said in the speech published Thursday, making a veiled reference to tensions with the US and his nation's transition away from property-driven growth.

"The pressure on stabilising growth and employment will persist," the top leader added, in comments carried by the ruling Communist Party's Qiushi magazine on the cusp of an American election that could redefine China's relationship with the US.

have extracted everything that we can in bargaining and by withholding our labour. We are at that point now and risk a regressive or lesser offer in the future," the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM) said.

Members rejected two earlier offers from Boeing. Talks between the two sides were held this week with the assistance of Acting US Secretary of Labour Julie Su, who praised the union and Boeing for their hard work in negotiating the deal. The union vote will come the day before the US presidential poll, which is a dead heat between Democrat Kamala Harris, who would be expected to continue the Biden administration's pro-union policies, and Republican Donald Trump.
